Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Pioneer History Stories: For Third and Fourth Grades, First Series The history found in the pioneer stories constitutes the first stages of an unbroken series of history studies, beginning in the latter part of the third grade and ending in the eighth grade. Beginning with the best early historical and biographical narratives of the home state, we advance to the neighboring parts of the country, to the south, east and west, until the main lines of pioneer life and the leading characters of pioneer history in the United States have been treated. In order to secure stories which are really adapted to children of this age, certain limits in their selection must be observed. First, they must be chiefly biographical to insure simplicity and interest. Secondly, the conditions of society should be simple and primitive, easily surveyed and comprehended. This condition excludes stories taken from the periods of later colonial history, and from the period of the revolution and of the civil war. The whole situation of a story, its historical setting, should be transparent to the mind of children. Thirdly, they should exhibit the lives of men of high character and purpose, such as impress the mind with generous thoughts. In the main therefore, these narratives must be selected from the narrow field of exploration and first settlement, before society had assumed complex forms; while commerce, manner of living and government were still in their simplest beginnings.
